The website's offering of free games includes action, arcade, racing and puzzle games. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET This website offers a variety of categories including card games, board games, kid games, puzzles, racing games, simulations, war and strategy games and word games. Most of the games include Disney characters. Its terms of service require you not to copy, distribute, transmit or sell content that you didn't create that's uploaded to the site unless you have explicit written permission from YouTube or the original creator to do so. Yahoo! offers a large selection of web-based games, which don't require downloads, for adults and children. Sign up with a Disney account to have access to these favorites. You might also opt to download certain content like videos from Netflix, which you can save to your computer and watch later offline. Many computers and other devices these days are equipped with this feature, which creates a video of whatever you're playing on the device's screen while the recorder application is running. Generally, if the content is likely copyrighted — say it comes from a streaming TV channel or news station — you shouldn't download it. These usually have ratings from users about their performance, and you can spend some time researching what other people recommend as the safest options. Yahoo! also offers free games that can be downloaded to your computer—some of them free trials. If you're doing a response video or parody and want to reference someone else's content, you may not get into trouble. If your child loves everything Disney, consider the Disney website. Just remember that downloading anything off of YouTube violates the terms of service no matter what, but it's not a criminal act to download public domain or Creative Commons-distributable video. However, it's best not to save content that someone else created, especially if it's their intellectual property and they're monetizing it. Surefire Safe Saving If you want to save a video that you're sure is safe to keep — maybe it's something personal a family member shared on social media and you have their permission — there's one way to do so that may be the safest: screen recording. Photo Courtesy: athima tongloom/Moment/Getty Images Whether you want to save a viral Facebook video to send to all your friends or you want to keep that training for online courses from YouTube on hand when you'll need to use it in the future, there are plenty of reasons you might want to download videos you find online. If you're using Google Chrome as your browser, for example, visit the Chrome Web Store to search for extensions you can add that help you download videos. Chrome and other browsers may incorporate these and automatically scan files to make sure they're safe. Videos that have Creative Commons licenses or that are public domain are also usually okay to download. Some of the games that are offered are trials before you buy, while others are completely free. For this reason alone, it's best to avoid torrent sites in particular — you have no idea who uploaded the content and what they might've done to it in the meantime. This isn't exactly a download, but it is a safe option if you want to save video. It also offers arcade, card and holiday games. Before you download the first browser extension you come across or paste a URL into a potentially shady video extractor, it's important to learn about how to — and when you can — download videos online safely. No adware or spyware has been reported from the site, which offers more than 800 games. If you already own the videos — say they're posted on your YouTube channel — and you want to back them up? Several websites are dedicated to offering computer games for free. Look for those that are highly rated and the most frequently downloaded; they're generally the safer choices. However, there's some grey area when it comes to things you find on social media and other sites, and it also matters what you're going to do with them. When Is It Okay to Download Online Videos? Yahoo! offers sports and education games for kids. The site offers games are completely free or free trials of games you can purchase. File-sharing torrent websites and some video extractors, which are the sites on which you paste in the URL of the page that has the video you want to download and the site downloads a copy, may be infected with malware that they deposit onto your computer when you open the downloaded files. Photo Courtesy: Westend61/Getty Images There are a few limitations with this; for example, you'll need to let the video play the whole way through and have the volume level up while you're recording. YouTube videos usually don't have malware attached. They require you to buy the game to continue playing or unlock some features. However, there are some situations in which it may be okay to download media. They include Hannah Montana Rock that Beat, Tink's Fairy Tag, Bayou Adventure, Pixie Hollow and Zake and Luther's Donut Run. But, you might also wonder if it's okay to save the media you find online — from both ethical and personal-security standpoints. By Tanya Watkins You can play games on your computer without spending a cent. Download-Free-Games.com offers many classic games for download. Free trials allow you to try out the game for a limited time or have some features locked. However, there's no risk of malware contaminating the files because they're created on and saved to your device only. Protecting Yourself While Downloading Just as you take precautions when opening an email that might be a phishing scam, you also need to take precautions when downloading videos online. It lists players with top scores, the 10 most-popular games and ID's of new users. Photo Courtesy: Spiff/JE+/Getty Images YouTube is one of the sites from which people most commonly want to download videos (or just the audio from those videos). Family Feud, Monopoly, Scrabble, Bejeweled, Life and Risk are a few of the games offered. Net-Games.biz offers free games to download as well as web-based games, a players club and multiplayer games. Enable this option if you haven't already. YouTube, Facebook, even TikTok — plenty of sites are known for providing high-quality, user-generated video content. That should be okay. But is it actually okay to download videos from these and other sites? Streaming services that allow you to do this are almost always safe because that functionality exists specifically so you can download videos — just don't distribute them or try to make money off of them. Make sure the sources you're downloading from are also safe.
